Duke Has Done It!

Duke played Wisconsin in the Men's NCAA Championship. Both teams were No. 1 seeds, but Wisconsin was favored. At the beginning was going back and forth, and at the half, it was 31-31. It was very close and you couldn't even tell who was going to win. But from the start of the second half, Wisconsin took a lead, which would eventually turn into a 9 point lead near the end of the game. But then, Duke went on full blast and got lots of points, which would seal a 5 point win for the Blue Devils. Duke has now beaten the Badgers both times they faced each other this season. Mike Krzyzewski has won all 5 of Duke's titles. Duke is now tied for 3rd for most titles won with Indiana and North Carolina.

Did You Know?

The Mets beat the Nationals yesterday, 3-1, with one of the oldest players in baseball on the mound, Bartolo Colón, age 41. Colón is the oldest player to start on Opening Day since 2006 when Jamie Moyer, 43, pitched for the Mariners and Randy Johnson, 42, pitched for the Yankees. Colón is the Mets oldest Opening Day starter.

Colón on Opening Day?!

Bartolo Colón is one of the oldest current baseball players. He is one of the New York Mets pitchers. On Opening Day, would you start a great player like Matt Harvey? I guess the Mets didn't think that way. They went with the 41-year-old Colón! It sounds like the Mets are going to lose, right? To make matters worse, Max Scherzer, one of the best pitchers in baseball, was on the mound for the home team Nationals! Well, the Mets have to lose now, right? The Nats jumped on top first with a home run from Bryce Harper. But in the sixth inning, Ian Desmond, Nationals shortstop, called off Nationals second baseman Dan Uggla, meaning that Desmond was going to catch the ball. Since they kept getting mixed up, nobody caught the ball! The Mets got a double, followed with a 2 run RBI (Run Batted In) single by Lucas Duda. The Mets went on to win, 3-1. Now, they saved their best pitcher for later. That must have been the right game plan.
