

THE SPORTIER

The Two Dynasties

The Cardinals and Giants are again at it as they look for their need championships. Both teams have been in the playoffs every year since 2000. In the span of 14 years, the Giants won their only two World Series' as a California franchise. And the Saint Louis Cardinals won 2 of their 11 World Series' in the past 14 years.

Source: Ask.com

Closer Than Thought

The Colts-Texans. I mean, whip thinks this will be any good? Well, surprisingly, it was. In the third, the Texans were down by 6. This would be the only time the game was this intense. Luck gets the snap and you know what? T.Y., Hilton was wide open and TOUCHDOWN. Game over for these Texans.

Source: ESPN

The Shutout

The Jets have been having their bad times lately. Their record is 1-4, just recording a shutout. This game was against the San Diego Chargers. In fact, this is the first shutout of the year. In the game, the Jets didn't even come that close to scoring because if they did, fumble or interception. The Chargers, on the other hand, got the ball and scored. The Jets have started to fall apart as a team as the years go on and they might just never be good again. Someone needs to bring a change to this poor team.

Source: ESPN

Landon's USA Farewell

Landon Donovan is an amazing American footballer. U.S.A., Soccer Athlete of the Year was awarded to him 4 times. His U.S.A. career finished yesterday in a 1-1 tie to Ecuador. He was about to say no to playing but then had changed his mind, which was probably the right decision to make. At the end of the tie, there was a video put together for him and he was very emotional and he had to wipe his tears away from his face. He also appeared in 3 World Cups and scored 5 times in that period of time. And though his career is over, Landon had a great career.

Source: 120 Sports and ESPN

Upcoming Games

1:00 pm

8:30 pm

8:07 pm

7:00 pm

