

THE SPORTIER

NLCS Walk-Off

It's the bottom of the ninth, Travis Ishikawa is at the plate. 2 men on. Then it's BAM!!! "It's hit deep to left field and... It's OUTTA HERE!!" The Giants have won against the mighty Cardinals, series 4-1. This is the third World Series trip for the Giants in the 2000's.

ALCS Finale

Ground ball to the 3rd base side, Mike Moustakas cleanly fields the ball and the throw to first... They got him! The Royals win, 2-1! The Kansas City Royals have clinched a World Series spot, their first since 1985. The Royals scored on a play at home and their needed 2nd run was on that same play on the pass ball. And the O's came close with a Ryan Flaherty homer, but it wasn't enough to defeat the Royals.

Like it's 85'!

The Jets come closer, but not enough

The Jets-Patriots rivalry has been as crazy as it is to this day, but Thursday was a showing from the Jets side.

The Jets got many field goals and actually took a 9-7 lead which was made up of all field goals. Geno actually played well for the first time with 226 yards and finally no interceptions. But the Patriots did it in the last 5 seconds, Nick Folk kicking a 58 yarder and BANG!! The Pats blocked the field goal! Chris Johnson of the Patriots has knocked down a field goal attempt at the most important time! And the Pats win it, 25-27.

Source: ESPN

Travis Ishikawa

Another Record About to be demolished

Peyton Manning, the all-pro Quarterback for the Denver Broncos, is on his way to break another record that will be set in history. This is going to be a back-to-back record setting year if Peyton makes 3 more touchdown passes today. He will have passed Brett Favre in all-time career touchdown passes. If Peyton breaks the record, he will have 509 touchdown passes.

Source: Pro-Football Reference

Brett Favre-508 TD passes

Peyton Manning-506 TD passes

Today's Games

4:25 pm

5:00 pm

3:00 pm

The COMIC By: Shailen Pathy

Baseball Funnies

