

THE SPORTIER

Griner Stabbed with Knife

On Monday, star WNBA player Brittney Griner, women's basketball player for the Phoenix Mercury, was a victim of an attack in China. She had seen the man on the side of the arena. She thought it was just a crazy fan, but after she saw the man with the knife squeeze into the bus that she was riding, that thought changed. She said that the knife had a rounded blade and she had a Nike sweatshirt, so it absorbed the first hit, but she got caught on the elbow the second time. Unlucky, her Chinese teammate got jabbed at 4 or 5 times and she said it was painful to watch. The police showed up and put the man in the van. The man was said to be mentally ill and extremely intoxicated. She did not need stitches and played the next day. She said that everything is slowly getting back to normal.

Source: ESPN.com

Jazz Astound Cavs

The Utah Jazz, a team that has never won a championship, bashed the Cavaliers, the team with the Big Three. At the buzzer, Utah stunned the Cavs in a 102-100 victory when Gordon Hayward hit the game winning 20-footer. The EnergySolutions Arena in Utah has become one of LeBron's least liked arenas. "We got a little bit of clarity but we still got to -- me, personally -- I still got to figure out ways to get my teammates involved, too," James said. "'Cause it just can't be a one-, two- or three-man show. We have to do it together."

Source: ESPN.com

In The Rulebook

What is Butt-Ending in hockey? I know it may sound funny, but is a penalty in hockey that occurs when the player uses the shaft of the stick, the part which is above the upper handle, to jab or attempt to jab another player.

Source: NHL.com

The COMIC

By: Shailen Pathy

Football Funnies

New Orleans Hangs On

Last night, the New Orleans Pelicans stunned the San Antonio Spurs at the buzzer beater. The Spurs were up by 1, 99-98. Then, there was 6.6 seconds left and the Pelicans have the ball. Anthony Davis is taking the ball down the court and...Davis made the layup!! The New Orleans Pelicans have made the game winning basket against the defending champions, the San Antonio Spurs! 100-99 is the final score.

Source: ESPN.com

New England Smokes Denver

Tom Brady and the New England Patriots beat Peyton Manning and the Denver Broncos in a thriller at Gillette. The Patriots were just amazing in the game and did a great job in defeating Peyton in a 21-43 victory, winning by more than half of the Broncos score. The Broncos just couldn't score at the end and in all, that would be what would kill them.

Key Games

1-2

Prediction

VS.

35-24

Prediction

VS.

Games Last Of The Week

100-102

21-43

