SUPER BOWL PREVIEW

Super Bowl Preview

In the 50th year of the Super Bowl, we will witness an exciting game between the 15-1 Carolina Panthers and the 12-4 Denver Broncos. The last time the Panthers reached the Super Bowl was in 2004, where they lost to the New England Patriots, 32-29. The last time the Broncos appeared in the Super Bowl was in 2014 against the Seattle Seahawks, where they were destroyed, 43-8. In this year's Super Bowl, the 2 teams will face off in San Francisco, CA at Levi's Stadium, home to the 49ers. The Carolina Panthers are favored in this game because of their streak, but let's just see if that was just luck.

50 Years of the Super Bowl

This is the 50th year of the Super Bowl, the most watched championship game ever, and maybe the best game ever. This game started in 1966, a game between the Packers and the Chiefs. The packers would go on to win this Super Bowl and the next Super Bowl, which they faced the Raiders. Here we are, 50 years past those games, and things have changed a lot. Some Super Bowl games have been closer, like 2008's Super Bowl between the Giant and Patriots, where it was a low scoring, 17-14 win for the Giants. The games have been watched all over the world. Even people that don't follow the game watch the Super Bowl. Unlike the old games, the current NFL has more rules for the better, like the roughing the passer rule, which protects player so that the games can be exciting and the great players won't get injured like older players. The 50th year will be great, but imagine what Super Bowl 100 would be like.
